Society for Economics Research in India

Seventh Annual Workshop

July 17-18, 2021

Society for Economics Research in India (SERI) invites submissions for its Seventh Annual Workshop to be held at Institute of Economic Growth (co-hosted by Centre for Development Economics, Delhi School of Economics) on July 17-18, 2021.

The focus of the workshop is on a small number of paper presentations from all fields of economics, with the aim of preparing the papers for submission to leading economic journals. Participants will be expected to stay for the entire workshop and actively engage in the overall discussion.

Submission deadline: April 10, 2021

Submission procedure: Email pdf copy of full paper to seri.economics@gmail.com. One submission per person.

About SERI (<https://www.seri-india.org/>): SERI was set up to create a community of scholars affiliated with Indian institutions who are engaged in cutting-edge economic research. The main platform for pursuing this goal is an annual workshop where members and other invited speakers can present their ongoing research to each other and receive feedback. The workshop is conceived to allow greater engagement than is possible under the usual conference format. There will be a small number of papers and participants, longer time slots to allow detailed exposition and discussion, and plenty of mingling over meals and refreshments.

Organizing committee: Rashmi Barua, Mausumi Das, Ajit Mishra, Rohini Somanathan
